The BFHU Young Professional Group invites young professionals to a Dinner at the House of Lords, hosted by Lord Pannick QC and with guest speaker James Sorene.

Lord Pannick QC is a leading public law and human rights barrister at Blackstone Chambers. He was ranked as one of Chambers UK's Top Silk Bar 100 in their inaugural listings of the top barristers practising at the Bar. In The Times Law 100, 2012 edition, he was ranked in 10th place as one of the most influential lawyers in Britain. He is also a crossbencher in the House of Lords and chairs the BFHU Legal Group.

James Sorene is the CEO of the Britain Israel Communications & Research Centre and former head of communications for Nick Clegg. James has worked in Government for 15 years and was Deputy Director of Government Communications at Number 10 and the Cabinet Office. He has also served as Head of Public Affairs at the Israeli Embassy. BICOM plays a crucial role in producing expert analysis and providing a forum for British and Israeli academics and opinion-formers to work together, share ideas, examine solutions and shape the international debate.

You will also have the unique opportunity to meet additional members of the House of Lords and other young professionals during the course of the evening.

Please note that catering will be provided by the House of Lords (fish or vegetarian option).

To book tickets either respond by email to friends@bfhu.org or by phone 020 8349 5757

*There will be an appeal to support Clinical Legal Education at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem.
