Centenary of the laying of the cornerstones 1918

This year, 2018, is a special one for the British Friends latest Legacy Mission to Israel, Jerusalem and The Hebrew University, as it marks the 100th Anniversary of the laying of the University cornerstones.

The British Friends of the Hebrew University (BFHU) was founded in 1926 with a mission to support all aspects of the development and academic research excellence of the University. Our programmes, events and missions to Israel promote greater appreciation of the University's achievements and its pivotal role nurturing Israel's greatest natural resource – the intellectual strength of the nation's people.

British Friends of the Hebrew University Legacy Missions help the University in its work to spearhead breakthroughs in areas such as brain sciences and medicine, technology and agricultural innovation, law and the humanities.

Become part of our and proud story ensuring generations to come will benefit from world-class research and discovery.

Please do join us on our 2018 mission. I can assure you the trip of a lifetime.
