Public notice of an intention to spend permanent endowment

Date of notice: 31 January 2020

British Friends of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem ("BFHU") acts as the corporate trustee of a number of funds listed below that constitute permanent endowment. In BFHU's case, these are funds that are invested on a permanent basis with BFHU (in its capacity as trustee) only being permitted to spend the income arising and not the capital.

Section 282 of the Charities Act 2011 permits BFHU to resolve to free the funds from the restrictions that apply to the capital provided that certain conditions are met. The trustees are of the view that in the case of the funds listed below, those conditions are met.

The Charity Commission for England & Wales has asked BFHU – under section 282 of the Charities Act 2011 – to publish public notice of its intention to free the funds listed below from the restrictions that apply to the capital so as to enable persons to make representations to BFHU in respect of its proposals.

Public notice is hereby given of BFHU's intention to free the following funds from the restrictions that apply to the capital:

The Emily Erskine Fund;
The Carew Shaw Fund;
The BFHU Scholarship & Student Fund; and
The BFHU Research & Teaching Fund.

Any person with an interest in the funds or BFHU may make representations to the Charity Commission by emailing CSCorres1@charitycommission.gov.uk within 28 days from the date of this notice.
